

DVLA Scam doing the rounds this month.

---

DVLA scam email

---

Welcome

We have noticed that your vehicle is no longer up to date with its current road tax.

This is the last (v11) reminder we will issue you.

Currently your vehicle is legally not allowed to be on the road.

You must fill out the form below in order to be up to standard with the DVLA legal requirements.

START NOW >

A scam email impersonating the DVLA

A scam email impersonating the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) tells you that 'your vehicle is no longer up to date with its current road tax.'

It also includes a warning that this is the last reminder it will issue you and a dodgy link to fill out a form to be 'up to standard with the DVLA legal requirements.'

You can forward scam emails to report@phishing.gov.uk and phishing websites can be reported to the National Cyber Security Centre.